MELBOURNE (June 6, 2022) — A total of $15,000 in STEM scholarships will be awarded to Brevard County students on Tuesday, June 21, at the Courtyard by Marriott Cocoa Beach.

The event will start at 6 p.m. and will also recognize winners of WIDSC's STEM Education Innovator Awards for individuals and organizations who go above—and—beyond in supporting science, technology, engineering, and math education on the Space Coast.

The WIDSC STEM Scholarship awards vary up to $1,000 for exceptional Brevard County women seeking to further their education in STEM studies with an interest in starting and furthering a career that supports the national defense industrial base. Awards are based on academic achievement, field of study, work experience, statements of interest, recommendations, and financial need. Applications closed April 25.

Nominations for the 2022 STEM Education Innovator Awards closed April 30.

Individuals, organizations, and companies were considered for their innovation supporting STEM education in areas including leadership, business, nonprofit, education, and mentoring. Past recipients include Rolle IT Support, United Space Coast Cables Inc., Connected Class, 8–koi, Junior Achievement of the Space Coast, United Way of Brevard, Melissa Woods, Darrell Thomas, Signe Post, Michelle Grimes, and Marian Passmore.

"Reading the scholarship applications and award nominations is very humbling," says WIDSC STEM Chairwoman Leslie Tibbetts of Community Credit Union. "I'm completely impressed by the caliber of talent we have here on the Space Coast and these recognitions are just one small way our organization can support a more diverse and stable workforce on the Space Coast."

WIDSC established the Space Coast STEM Scholarship Fund in 2013 to encourage women in Florida to pursue careers in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics related to the national security and defense interests of the United States.

Since its inception, WIDSC has awarded over $$60{,}000$ in scholarships and contributed to numerous STEM—related events in partnership with local businesses, nonprofits, and federal agencies such as Patrick Space Force Base.

Carol Taecker—Sluzy, director of Starbase Academy at Patrick Space Force Base, will be the guest speaker at the ceremony. Sponsored by the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower and Reserve Affairs, Department of Defense STARBASE locations allow students to participate in challenging "hands—on, minds on" activities in STEM.

Sponsors and donors contributing to WIDSC's 2022 scholarship awards include: 8–koi, ABC Fine Wine & Spirits, Alluvionic, Dr. Amacitia Maloon–Gibson, Amici's Italian Restaurant, AVET Veteran Appeals, Bill & Sheila Gaylor Insurance, Buds & Bows Floral Design, Carr, Riggs & Ingram, Charlie & Jake's BBQ, CitruSolution Brevard, Cloud 9 Real Estate Group, Coldwell Banker Paradise, Courtyard by Marriott Cocoa Beach, Daughters of the American Revolution, Dixon Golf, Elements Massage, Frazier Engineering, and The Fresh Market.

The list continues: Gillespie Services, Gregory Daniels Portrait Artist, Hand & Stone Massage and Facial Spa, Hilton Melbourne Beach Oceanfront, HR Alignment Group, Jacobs Engineering's jCARES, Kegman, Kristen's Sugar Shack with Skinergy, Larsen Motorsports, Lexus of Melbourne, Merrill Lynch Rockledge, Miller Electric Company, Professional Specialty Insurance LLC, Proforma Arrow Solutions, Rockledge Gardens, Sandy Michelson, Siemens, Tavia on the Move LLC, Tea World of Titusville, and WhiteBird Law.
